Activate your Norton service

You need first activate your service to use all of the Norton features. Activation deterrants software piracy and ensures that you have authentic and original Symantec software.

If you have internet, activation goes on automatically when you start the service for the first time after installation. If you didn’t activate during installation, the Norton will prompt for activation each time you use the service. Also, you’ll receive an activation alert continuously until you activate the service.

1. Start your Norton service.

2. In the main window, click Renew or Activate Now. You can also click Activate Now from the activation alert.

3. If prompted, sign in to your Norton account with your Norton account credentials.

4. Do one of the following: If you have product key, click Enter a key, type the product key, and follow the on-screen instructions. If you have any licenses available, select the subscription and follow the on-screen instructions. If you want to purchase a license, click Buy a Subscription. You are redirected to Norton Store website where you can complete your purchase.
